

SUBMISSION FROM

Name : Owen Mckay

SUBMISSION

Do drink drivers in Queensland continue to drive illegally after being apprehended by police or disqualified by the courts?

There is a small amount of drink drivers that may continue to drive because they have to keep there jobs as the public transport does NOT cover the places where they need to go

Is this a significant number of drivers?

No.

How often do drink drivers in Queensland continue to do this?

How often do drink drivers in Queensland continue to do this? What type of question is this..

What are the costs and benefits of vehicle impoundment and forfeiture?

There are no benefits in doing this, The cost would be some people would go bankrupt and lose there jobs.

What are the costs and benefits of ignition key confiscation?

Cost are nill benefits can not drive for at least 24 hours.

Should vehicle impoundment or key confiscation be used in Queensland to prevent drink drivers from repeating or continuing the offence?

The keys should be taken from the ofender and the ofdender should be taken home not to a jail cell Vehicle Impoundment should be a maximum of 2 days...

Would other vehicle sanctions help reduce the amount of repeat drink driving? Which sanctions?

No

Would these vehicle sanctions work in conjunction with vehicle impoundment and key confiscation?

No

Can other recidivist drink driving countermeasures be used to improve the effectiveness of vehicle sanctions? How?

No

How effective are the existing penalties under the Transport Operations (Road Use Management) Act 1995 in reducing repeat drink driving?

Very Good in most cases.

Are the powers provided to police to manage drink driving under the Transport Operations (Road Use Management) Act 1995 enough?

More than enough .

How effective is the Police Powers and Responsibilities Act 2000 in reducing the number of individuals driving carelessly, dangerously, in racing or speed trials or in a way that makes unnecessary noise or smoke?

That Bill should be rewriting and or removed and the government should make car makers make cars that can do no more than 20 K above the speed limted and make modification illeagle this is the only way to make these type of crims stop .

Should the Police Powers and Responsibilities Act 2000 be amended to include drink driving as a 'prescribed offence' enabling police officers to impound drink drivers' vehicles?

No

What effect, if any, do successful appeals against licence suspension or disqualification have on drink driving behaviour and existing penalties for drink driving?

None

Should the appeals process for drink driving be tightened to reduce the incidence of successful appeals in Queensland?

No

Is vehicle impoundment and key confiscation legislation successful in reducing the number of recidivist drink drivers in other Australian jurisdictions and overseas?

No

Should Queensland introduce legislation that is consistent with the legislation in other Australian jurisdictions?

No