

To the Committee - Something has to happen to improve this dreadful road toll. I believe drunken drivers should lose the privilege of driving a vehicle for certain lengths of time. I'd support zero tolerance. Some European countries have this. And - why not those governors - I think this is what they are called - which stop cars and trucks from going over 110?

The horror of this maiming and killing must be stopped by you - the lawmakers. Yes, the populace much be self disciplined but we all know there are those to whom self discipline means nothing. I'm 67 - I believe older people should undergo compulsory medical testing to weed out those who should not be in charge of a car. Thank you - Ms A Smith
