

Sub 4

[REDACTED]

---

From: lukey lukey [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, 24 November 2011 10:34 AM
To: Transport and Local Government Committee
Subject: sustainable planning and other legislation amendment bill 2011
Our submissions to the Sustainable Planning Amendment Bill 2011

Luke Daglish and Jean Daglish
[REDACTED]

24-11-2011

RECEIVED

24 NOV 2011

TLGC

We wish to express our disgust at this new amendment taking away the right of citizens to complain or sue companies who blatantly break the law in industrial estates, mines, or quarries. One has only to look at the ammonia plant in Sydney, the toxic plant in Nanago, and what about the Dow Chemical Company in India? This amendment seems to be a get out for developers who infill houses next door to industrial estates, mines, or quarries. The amendment does not state that only new infill dwellings can not complain, or that dwellings that have been next to industrial estates, mines, or quarries for 10, 20, 30 years will also give up their right to complain or sue polluters who can cause illness or even death. This draconian amendment must not be allowed to pass, stop eroding our right to fight an injustice. It would appear that developers first, citizens second.

Regards Luke and Jean Daglish .

24/11/2011