Hello,

The present toll charges it seems are to high for the average motorists as is evident by their limited usage . I suggest that the tolls be lowered significantly for say a 3 month trail period to a cost that the average moterist would accept . The increased usage would have significant effect on alternative and longer routes and decrease the congestion on these routes . Increased usage would compensate for any perceived loss of revenue by lowering the Tolls.

Various trial periods of lower tolls could be trialled untill an acceptable toll would satisfy both the average motorist and the toll operators. I dont use toll roads unless absolutely necessary and it would be over 12 months since I have used one .
