When I first came to Brisbane, there was no Upper House, there was free hospitals, there was free water, there was no road tolls ( even the Hornibrook Bridge no longer had a toll. Death duty has since been squashed. Trams have disappeared, thank God. Traffic lights have cropped up like mushrooms. Traffic progress has slowed to a crawl. Road Rage is at epidemic proportions. Traffic infringement notices have increased in direct proportion to the Public Service as payroll increases. Suicide rates are rampant owing to general unhappiness. In a nut shell the cost of living has increase in direct proportion to the burdening Government Expenditure. A person travelling south from East ( or NSEW ) Brisbane would have to pay numerous tolls on their way to their destination. Businesses in addition, to the inflated demand of Unions, are hit with exorbitant extra over heads.

Income from GST was supposed to Balance out Government Expenditure. But are already wanting to increase it.

In summary cancel road tolls, Cancel the Cross River Rail Project, Improve instead traffic flow on the North side of Brisbane. And above all stop exorbitant spending and better manage and balance the Treasury Books.
