To whom it may concern,

I am writing to the Inquiry to say that I think it is disgusting that Queensland toll roads are in private hands in the first place, instead of being run by the state government for the benefit of the people for which they were built. Critical infrastructure like roads (and many other things) are being used for profit by companies who do not have the people of Queensland's interests at heart.

In saying that, now that these roads are in private hands, they should be heavily regulated to ensure that most people will be able to afford to use these roads. I don't believe anything more than a very small amount should be charged to use these roads and due to the huge numbers who continually use them, there is still room for a tidy profit. Maybe not earth shattering, but again, critical infrastructure was never meant to be a conduit for massive company profits and speculation.

Thankyou for reading my submission to the Inquiry.

Yours Faithfully,

Matthew Galea
