At the meeting of Estimates Committee A held on Wednesday 4 June 2003, it was determined that Ministers and Mr Speaker's answers to Questions on Notice in relation to Estimates Committee A would be required to be returned to the Research Director by 12 Noon on Friday 4 July 2003.

This decision of Estimates Committee A was made conscious of Sessional Order 26(3) which provides that "The Minister or Mr Speaker shall provide answers to questions referred to in (1) above, at least 24 hours prior to the hearing."

The decision of the Committee on 4 June 2003, was made, notwithstanding the Sessional Order, in an endeavour to ensure that all Members of the Committee were provided with answers to Questions on Notice in order to enable adequate time for matters raised in such answers to be properly addressed.

I note and congratulate Mr Speaker for being able to comply with the decision of the Committee. I further note that the Premier and Minister for Trade failed to comply with this decision and instead sought refuge in strict application of the Sessional Order.

This decision of the Premier and Minister for Trade sits strangely with a Government that makes the claim of being open and accountable. The failure by the Premier and Minister for Trade to comply with a request of the Committee raises real questions about his commitment, not only to the principle of openness and accountability, but also to compliance with the requirements of a Committee of this Parliament and the practice of Ministers since the establishment of Estimates Committees who have generally complied with the Committees' requested time-frames.

In relation to the conduct at the public hearing, reservations are held with the inability of the Premier and the Commissioner for Children and Young People to explain the ineffective monitoring of the role of the Department of Families by the Commission for Children and Young People. The Department of Families has the primary responsibility to protect children from abuse and to provide children at risk with safe and secure environments. However key outcomes of the Commission for Children and Young People includes "safeguarding children and young people from harm", as well as "monitoring laws, policies, and practices that impact on children and young people". The Commission as well as the Department of Families have failed many children by not accomplishing their respective key objectives.

The Commission for Children and Young People attracted $8 million in funding in the previous financial year, and whilst it is acknowledged that the Commission will receive a funding reduction of $3 million approximately this financial year, the Committee should be questioning whether Queensland children are gaining any benefit from the funding appropriation to the Commissioner for Children and Young People.

Another reservation which needs to be addressed is performance measurement. Government departments and agencies are required to provide figures and targets which have no relevance to actuality. When questioned on the matter, the Premier acknowledged the difficulty in developing output measures, but suggested that performance is dealt with more comprehensively in respective Annual Reports. As the Estimates Committee process deals with the budgetary positions and budgetary appropriations of government departments and agencies, it would be beneficial to have tangibility in performance measures, instead of the obscure figures which proliferate throughout the various Ministerial Program Statements. The current system fails to provide or define whether the Queensland taxpayer is getting value for money.

The Committee should also have reservations about the lack of accountability and responsibility displayed by the Premier in relation to his and the government's role in encouraging "Mum and Dad" investors to invest in AMC. Under questioning the Premier was unable to provide the Committee with any outline of the advice taken by he, or the government, in relation to investment in AMC.

In relation to Internal Audit Reports, a question on notice was submitted by the non-government Members. It was noted that a number of reports were withheld. However, the Committee was not provided with appropriate reasons for those documents being withheld, and as a consequence the "independence" and integrity of the department's Internal Audit Unit is being put in jeopardy.

The Treasurer confirmed during the examination of funding for Deputy Premier, Treasury and Sport that Queensland Treasury will only be funding Government Departments and Agencies for 3% of any wage increases awarded to employees, effectively forcing Government Departments and Agencies to fund the rest of the wage increases from within their existing budget allocations. This will therefore require those Departments and Agencies to cut program budgets and reduce client services to enable them to fund wage increases for their staff. This is a position not supported by Opposition members of the Committee.

The Treasurer also confirmed that the Government under the ASAP process intends to link State Taxes, Fees, Fines, Levies and Other Charges to increases in the Consumer Price Index (CPI). The Treasurer also stated that the Government was not concerned about the self-inflationary effects that may flow from this policy. Despite the fact that the previous Commonwealth practice of CPI linked indexation of fuel excise clearly demonstrated the self-inflationary effect such a policy can initiate and perpetuate.

Confirmation that the Government has increased nearly 850 taxes, fees, fines, levies and other charges in the two weeks leading up to the end of the 2002/2003 financial year was also provided by the Treasurer. It should be noted that these increases were on average about 3.4%, yet the annualised rate of inflation was less than 3.4% in the 2002/2003 financial year.

Opposition members of the Committee are also concerned about the lack of definitive policy guidelines for the compulsory ambulance levy. The Treasurer confirmed that there were still grey areas in regard to who pays the ambulance levy and that the Government is yet to finalise a position on all circumstances where a person is required to pay the levy.

AMC

The estimates process is to ensure that public funds have been used carefully, are well spent and that every precaution has been taken to safeguard these public monies.

The answers provided by the Minister for State Development to my questions regarding the Government's protection of its huge financial support for the Australian Magnesium Corporation (AMC) were unsatisfactory.

Despite a total Government and government owned corporation financial commitment of $348 million [ie distribution assistance arrangements $128 million; infrastructure agreements $50 million; stamp duty refund $5 million; rail infrastructure commitment $9 million; energy supply agreement and associated infrastructure $50 million; cost overrun reserve facility $70 million; infrastructure agreement $22 million and additional infrastructure agreement $14 million], the Minister was forced to admit that no effort had been made to ensure a Government representative was on the Board of AMC, particularly following the financial assistance given to the second float.

It was further revealed in questioning, that the Minister and his Department were unaware of the magnitude of the problems in relation to the contract price until 17 April 2003, whereas AMC had been aware of these issues since December 2002. Bank finance for the project hinged upon a fixed price, yet this fixed price had not been obtained. This serious issue would have been known much earlier had the Government had the sense to have a representative on the Board of AMC.

With so much taxpayer money allocated to this project and with the Government providing funding for payment of distribution entitlement shares, it would have been financially prudent to have had this representation.

Further, it may have safeguarded the hundreds of Mum and Dad investors who were lured into this project by the Premier's support and the Government's distribution guarantees.

I consider this to have been a most serious lack of financial diligence and scrutiny by the Government. This has contributed to the losses faced by both the Government and private investors.

Ambulance Levy

Questioning revealed that the Minister and his Department, who are responsible for the well-being of small business, failed to prevent the imposition of the inequitable ambulance levy on small business in this State.

Questioning also showed that many small businesses will have to pay this levy many times over.

I believe this estimates questioning has demonstrated that this Minister is ineffectual. Both he and the Beattie Government have placed unfair imposts on small business.

Lost Industry and Headquarters

Questioning showed the worrying increase in companies leaving the State or moving parts of their operation or their headquarters from Queensland. Companies named were:- MIM, Kellogs, AMC, LG, Austoff, Queensland Cement, QNI, QCT Resources, Jupiters and Castlemaine Perkins.

It was also noted that the gas pipeline from Papua New Guinea, promised under the first term of the Beattie Government, was still not here.

Departmental Costs

The Minister responded to Question on Notice No. 6 in relation to conferences/workshops run by his Department with thirty-seven pages conferences held throughout the State.

In particular, it was noted that the preparation of the balanced scorecard for the Division at the Chifley Hotel had cost $16061. It was further noted that an amount of $6820 had been spent for a workshop facilitator.

At a time when there are so many important needs, this seems an unnecessary and extravagant expense by this Department.
