MINISTERIAL NOTICE OF MOTION – MEDICAL TRAINING PLACES
Premier (Mr Beattie) gave notice that he will move – That this Parliament notes that—

- The Productivity Commission stated in its January report on Australia’s health workforce that Australia is experiencing workforce shortages across a number of health professions and that the Federal Government is responsible for funding university–based education and training of health workers;
- The Prime Minister put his name to the February communiqué of the Council of Australian Governments which recognised the urgency of addressing the national health workforce shortage and required Senior Officials to provide COAG in June 2006 with detailed information on the number of additional Commonwealth student places required;
Those senior officials compiled that detailed information which included 955 extra medical places and 6,430 extra places for nurses; and

The analysis suggested that Queensland requires an additional 325 medical places, 800 nursing places, 10 dentistry places, and 200 allied health professionals starting from 2007;

Deplores the fact that the Prime Minister has, without any explanation of his methodology, withdrawn from the process and continued to restrict the number of Australian–trained doctors and nurses by unilaterally offering only 400 extra medical places – 160 of which have been earmarked for Victoria – and 1,000 extra nursing places for the whole of Australia;

And calls on the Prime Minister to honour the Council of Australian Government’s agreement by funding the required 955 extra medical places and 6,430 extra places for nurses, which includes 325 extra medical places and 1,000 extra nursing places for Queensland.
