

Question on Notice

No. 550

Asked on Tuesday 17 April 2007

MR SEENEY asked the Minister for Transport and Main Roads (MR LUCAS)—

QUESTION:

What is the breakdown of hospitality and entertainment received for chief executive officers and senior executive service officers for his department/s in 2005-06 and 2006-07 (year to date), detailing (a) names of the officers receiving the hospitality and entertainment, (b) type of the hospitality and entertainment received for each officer, (c) provider of the hospitality and entertainment for each officer, (d) total value of the hospitality or entertainment including travel and accommodation if relevant, (e) purpose of the hospitality or entertainment and (f) benefit to the Queensland taxpayer?

ANSWER:

The member may be aware that in August 2003, a new Gifts and Benefits Policy covering all state public servants was introduced. The release of this new policy demonstrates this government's commitment to transparency and accountability and expectations of a high standard of ethical behavior by public service employees.

At the same time, the Premier took the opportunity to set up a similar policy for Ministers and Ministerial staff.

The policy for public servants covers gifts and benefits, including hospitality, to be given or received by public service employees – regardless of their value. It reinforces that it is not appropriate for public service employees to be offered or to give gifts and benefits that may be likely to influence them in the performance of their official duties. The policy makes it clear to public servants how to make decisions about accepting offers.

At the Premier's office's request, the Office of the Public Service Commissioner checked that this policy has been implemented. The advice, following this check, is that all government departments have fully implemented the policy and maintain a gifts and benefits register as well as regularly reviewing practices to ensure compliance with this policy. Staff training and awareness programs have also been conducted so that employees understand their obligations and responsibilities in the offers of gift or benefits while performing their official duties.

As advised to me by my Departments, please refer to the attached table for a breakdown of reportable hospitality or entertainment provided to Senior Executive Officers in the Department's of Transport and Main Roads for 2005-06 and 2006-07 year to date.
