

Question on Notice

No. 607

Asked on Wednesday, 18 April 2007

Mrs MENKENS asked the Attorney-General and Minister for Justice and Minister Assisting the Premier in Western Queensland (Mr Shine) -

QUESTION:

With reference to the State Penalties Enforcement Register –

Will he provide monthly figures for the last three financial years detailing (a) the number and types of actions taken for non-payment of fines including licence suspensions, wage deductions, property seizures, and arrest warrants and (b) the number of Good Behaviour Orders applied for and made and the reasons they were made?

ANSWER:

The State Penalties Enforcement Registry (SPER) has suspended almost 300,000 driver licences and issued fine collection notices forcing deductions from financial institutions on 3,795 occasions in the last three years. In addition to the major enforcement actions undertaken by SPER, wage deductions have been ordered in 142 instances and SPER has registered an interest in property owned by fine defaulters on 284 occasions. The automation of the fine collection notice and wage deduction process in the SPER system in 2007/08 will streamline the process and it is anticipated this will further enhance SPER's effectiveness at collecting unpaid fines.

5,620 Warrants of Arrest and Imprisonment have been issued during the past three years. These relate solely to offenders who are serving time in gaol on unrelated SPER matters who elect to "call-in" warrants in order to finalise all outstanding debts. Warrants of Apprehension for offenders who have moved interstate have been issued on 2,424 occasions.

- (b) Good Behaviour Orders have been approved for 165 enforcement debtors over the last three years. The reason for the approval of the orders on each occasion was after considering a report from a doctor, that for medical or psychiatric grounds, the Registrar of SPER was satisfied the enforcement debtor was not suitable for performing community service, could not pay all or part of the amount owed and it was inappropriate to issue an arrest and imprisonment warrant.

Listed below is the monthly break-up of actions taken by SPER.

Month	Driver Licence Suspension Issued	Fine Collection Notice (Bank)	Fine Collection Notice (Employer)	Enforcement Warrant to Register Interest in Property (Land/Mveh)	Arrest warrants (custodial)	Warrant of Apprehension (Interstate)	Good Behaviour Orders
