Asked on 7 August 2013

MR RICKUSS asked the Minister for Police and Community Safety (MR DEMPSEY)—

QUESTION:

How many new speed camera positions will be activated in 2013-14 and where will they be located (listed separately)?

ANSWER:

A selection process is used to identify each new speed camera position or site for a mobile and portable camera system. The Department of Transport and Main Roads (DTMR) initially identifies a zone based on crash data. The roads within that zone are then assessed for the location of a suitable speed camera site. This site is subsequently considered by a Speed Management Advisory Committee (SMAC). If approved by SMAC, the site is activated as an approved site where a speed camera may be deployed.

The initial nomination of a site can also be based on stakeholder request including road authority or police, public complaints or a request for camera speed enforcement at road works.

The Legacy Way tunnel is subject to consideration for fixed cameras and is expected to open in 2015. There are currently no other fixed camera sites under consideration.

Currently there are 137 sites for mobile or portable camera systems waiting consideration by SMAC. Of these, 85 have been proposed by DTMR, 44 are stakeholder requests and 8 are a result of public complaints.

The attached table shows the numbers and locations of proposed speed camera sites in Queensland.

Any additional approved camera sites may be used periodically on an 'anywhere, anytime' basis to ensure motorists are adhering to prescribed speed limits and traffic rules.

Furthermore, this Government has committed to publishing the location of all current and future speed camera sites at:
