No. 1176

Asked on 6 September 2018

MR D JANETZKI ASKED THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL AND MINISTER FOR JUSTICE (HON Y D'ATH) –

QUESTION:

With reference to the provisions of the Serious and Organised Crime Legislation Amendment Act 2016 in force as at March 2017—

Will the Attorney-General advise the number of (a) control orders have been made under Division 9 of the Penalties and Sentences Act 1992, (b) control orders have been contravened, (c) court ordered public safety orders have been issued under Part 3 of the Peace and Good Behaviour Act 1982, (d) restricted premises orders have been made under Part 4 of the Peace and Good Behaviour Act 1982 (e) fortification removal orders have been issued under Part 5 of the Peace and Good Behaviour Act 1982, (f) habitually consorting convictions?

ANSWER:

I thank the Member for Toowoomba South for his question.

The Queensland Police Service (QPS) is responsible for issuing public safety orders pursuant to the Peace and Good Behaviour Act 1982. The QPS is also responsible for issuing official warnings for consorting under the Police Powers and Responsibilities Act 2000. As such, I refer the Member to the Honourable Mark Ryan MP, Minister for Police and Minister for Corrective Services.

I advise that:

- (a) No control orders have been made under Part 9 of the Penalties and Sentences Act 1992.
- (b) No control orders have been contravened.
- (c) No court ordered public safety orders have been issued under Part 3 of the Peace and Good Behaviour Act 1982.
- (d) No restricted premises orders have been made under Part 4 of the Peace and Good Behaviour Act 1982.
- (e) No fortification removal orders have been issued under Part 5 of the Peace and Good Behaviour Act 1982.
- (f) There has been one conviction for habitually consorting.
