Notes:

- Data provided are counts of successfully completed traineeships since SAS arrangements commenced on 1 July 2020 by SAS and SA3.
- The module delivery modes specified in the question are used by SAS to report delivery at the subject (competency/module) level (and have been expressed as a proportion of all modules). There can be up to 35 competencies/modules for a traineeship. Each one can be delivered utilising a combination of delivery modes.
- In Queensland, SAS are registered training organisations that are approved for the delivery of training and assessment services subsidised by the department.
- Traineeships are a learning pathway that combine paid on-the-job training and formal accredited training with a registered training organisation.
- Data has not been provided at the subject level.
- Given that on-the-job training is the major time component of a traineeship it is considered that all traineeships are achieved through 'employment-based training'.
- Not included in this data are apprenticeships subsidised under User Choice, or participants of the Certificate 3 Guarantee / Higher Level Skills programs.
