

Question on Notice

No. 378

Asked on 16 April 2024

MR B HEAD ASKED MINISTER FOR HEALTH, MENTAL HEALTH AND AMBULANCE SERVICES AND MINISTER FOR WOMEN (HON S FENTIMAN)—

QUESTION

Will the Minister advise in addition to answer to Question on Notice No. 187 of 2024, the total number of interhospital patient transfers since 2017 (reported separately by code, year and by hospital across the state) by the Royal Flying Doctor Service and other aircraft services?

ANSWER

Queensland is the most decentralised state in the country, so it's important that we're able to provide high quality healthcare, no matter where people live. That's why we're investing in a safe, reliable and efficient aeromedical system for Queensland.

Aeromedical care is also free for Queensland patients – something that will never change under a Labor Government.

The Miles Government has made a significant investment in providing a world class aeromedical service for the people of Queensland.

In 2022, we announced an additional $334 million in funding for a 10-year agreement with the Royal Flying Doctor Service (RFDS) for fixed wing, pre-hospital and inter-facility transfer retrieval services. The agreement includes the introduction of seven new Beechcraft King Air B360 Aircraft across the network, six additional full-time flight nurses and four additional full-time pilots.

This is in addition to the record $586 million investment into LifeFlight, announced last year.

The Queensland aeromedical system has grown significantly over the years and includes multiple aeromedical providers that support Queensland Health and Queensland Ambulance Service patient transfers, including Babcock, Central Queensland Helicopter Rescue Service, Capricorn Helicopter Rescue Service and Queensland Government Air Rescue.

In 2023, approximately 20,000 patients were transferred using aeromedical services in Queensland, across emergency and scheduled retrievals.

Between 2017 and February 2024, the RFDS and all other aircraft services providers transported 95,998 patients between hospitals in Queensland.

But we know that patients shouldn't be relocated if they don't have to be, which is why we're investing in technology to keep Queenslanders in their hometowns, where it's safe to do so.

For the past 10 years, Retrieval Services Queensland has been delivering telehealth services, enabling high-level clinical advice and support to be provided to clinicians working in our rural and remote hospitals.

A hardworking team of Clinical Nurses, Senior Midwives, Nurse Practitioners, and Emergency Physicians, provide virtual support to 125 facilities across the state through high-definition videoconferencing which allows clinicians to feel like they're working in the same room.

In 2023, approximately 4,000 patients were treated using these virtual services, and over 90 per cent of patients were able to avoid aeromedical transfers. That's more than 3,500 Queenslanders who were able to stay in their communities.

The below table details the number of patients who were aeromedically transferred from Queensland public reporting hospitals, reported separately by facility, year, and clinical priority.
