MR S KNUTH ASKED ATTORNEY-GENERAL AND MINISTER FOR JUSTICE AND MINISTER FOR INTEGRITY (HON D FRECKLINGTON)

With reference to pubs/hotels in small townships in regional Queensland not having the resources available to those in major cities and being under pressure with liquor licensing fees costing over $4,000 annually—

Will the Attorney-General consider expanding liquor licence fee concessions to take into account pubs/hotels that (a) are located in small townships with a population under 500 people and (b) do not have poker machines at the venue?
