Introduction

The Nature Conservation Act 1992 (NC Act) provides a legislative basis for the conservation of nature.

The NC Act aims to achieve the conservation of nature while allowing for the involvement of First Nations peoples in the management of protected areas, through an integrated and comprehensive conservation strategy for the whole of the state. It provides the framework for research; community education; dedicating, declaring and managing protected areas; and protecting native wildlife and its habitat.

The NC Act also provides for the making of subordinate legislation including regulations, notices and conservation plans.

Under section 139 of the NC Act, the chief executive must, within four months after the end of each financial year, give to the Minister a report on the administration of the NC Act during the year. The Minister must lay a copy of the report before the Legislative Assembly within 14 sitting days after its receipt by the Minister.

Human Rights Certificates

In accordance with section 41 of the Human Rights Act 2019 (HR Act), respective subordinate legislation under the NC Act includes a human rights certificate that is compatible with the human rights protected by the HR Act (where relevant) and is published on the Queensland legislation website.

Nature Conservation Act 1992—departmental administrative responsibilities

During the reporting period, the NC Act was administered consistent with Administrative Arrangements Order (No. 1) 2020, Administrative Arrangements Order (No. 2) 2020 and Administrative Arrangements Order (No. 1) 2021.

As at 30 June 2021, the Department of Environment and Science (DES) is responsible for:

- the dedication and declaration of protected areas (including nature refuges)
- custody and management of the protected area estate and forest reserves
- protection of native wildlife and its habitats
- providing for the ecologically sustainable use of protected wildlife
- supporting the management of nature refuges and special wildlife reserves by their owners.

Protected areas

The protected area classes, as stated in section 14 of the NC Act, are:

- national parks (scientific)
- national parks
- national parks (Aboriginal land)
- national parks (Torres Strait Islander land)
- national parks (Cape York Peninsula Aboriginal land (CYPAL))
- conservation parks
- resources reserves
- special wildlife reserves
- nature refuges
- coordinated conservation areas.

All classes of national parks are areas with outstanding natural and cultural values and represent the highest level of protection under the NC Act. National parks (scientific) also contain exceptional scientific values, and are managed to ensure the processes of nature continue unaffected in these areas and protect the areas' biological diversity to the greatest possible extent while allowing controlled scientific study and some manipulation of habitat to manage threatened wildlife and control threatening processes. National parks are managed to permanently preserve and protect their natural and cultural values and provide educational and recreational opportunities, while ensuring that any uses are nature-based and ecologically sustainable. There are currently no national parks (Aboriginal land) or national parks (Torres Strait Islander land), but these areas are intended to represent areas that should also be managed in accordance with any Aboriginal tradition or activities, or Island custom or activities, in the area. National parks (CYPAL) are also to be managed in accordance with any Aboriginal tradition or activities relating to the area.

Conservation parks are generally smaller than national parks and their conservation values may not be as significant. Conservation parks are managed to permanently conserve and present the area's natural and cultural values to the greatest possible extent, as well as to provide educational, recreational and commercial opportunities in a way that is consistent with these values and is sustainable.

Resources reserves allow for the controlled use of the area's natural and cultural values such as mining and quarrying but must be managed to ensure the area is maintained predominantly in its natural condition.

Special wildlife reserves are a voluntary, binding and perpetual class of protected area, for application on privately owned land that contains exceptional natural and cultural resources and values. They can apply to freehold, leasehold and reserve tenures, with ownership and management responsibilities remaining unaffected. Special wildlife reserves are afforded protections from incompatible land uses similar to those afforded to national parks.

Nature refuges are areas of high conservation significance generally owned by private individuals and companies, which are predominantly negotiated through a legally binding, perpetual agreement between the landholder and the State. They are managed to conserve the area's significant natural and cultural resources and to provide for its controlled use as well as the interests of the landholder.

There are two coordinated conservation areas that overlay multiple tenure types, which are managed in a coordinated manner by the various landholders. They are managed to conserve the area's natural and cultural values and to provide for the interests of the landholders.

Table A details the status of classes of protected areas, including changes during 2020–21.

Special management areas (SMAs) controlled action

Under the NC Act, SMAs (controlled action) can be declared under section 42A by the chief executive over a national park or part of a national park to allow special management actions to occur.

An SMA (controlled action) allows for either the manipulation of an area's natural and cultural resources to protect or restore the area's natural or cultural values, or, the continuation of a lawful existing use, where the use is consistent with maintaining the area's natural and cultural values. An SMA (controlled action) is designed to facilitate activities that would otherwise be inconsistent with the management principles on national parks.

As at 30 June 2021, the total area of national parks subject to SMAs (controlled action) was 51,585 hectares. No new SMAs (controlled action) were declared in 2020–21.

In the 2020–21 reporting period, existing SMAs (controlled action) were declared in:

- D'Aguilar, Mapleton and Conway National Parks to allow continuation of a lawful existing use in foliage harvesting until 2024
- Mooloolah River National Park to allow continuation of a lawful existing use in beekeeping until 2024
- Mazeppa and Nairana National Parks to allow controlled stock grazing to manage high fuel loads associated with buffel grass to reduce threats to endangered fire sensitive communities.

Protected area authorities

Sections 34–38, 42AD–42AEA, 42AN–42AP and 43F–43H of the NC Act deal with the granting of authorities for the use of national parks, national parks (CYPAL), Indigenous joint management areas, conservation parks, resources reserves and special wildlife reserves. Sections 37 and 38 include provision for leases issued under the Land Act 1994 and continuing authorities under the repealed National Parks and Wildlife Act 1975.

Under these provisions leases and authorities can, in specific circumstances, be issued for purposes that include but are not limited to ecotourism, communications, electricity infrastructure, water extraction and grazing.

The Nature Conservation (Protected Areas Management) Regulation 2017 provides for activities to be undertaken on protected areas by permit, authority or agreement (approvals) and outlines the administrative matters relating to the grant, amendment, suspension, cancellation, surrender and replacement of the relevant approvals. The Regulation outlines additional requirements and restrictions that apply to certain activities and approvals on protected areas.

A summary of information relating to protected area authorities during 2020–21 is provided in Table B.

There was one internal review of decisions, with one decision made during the reporting period. There were no appeals to the Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal made during 2020–21.

Additional information relating to the administration of selected camping permits, and commercial activity agreements and permits in 2020–21 is provided in Table D.

Under section 54 of the NC Act the chief executive may, before the interest is created, require a person seeking an interest in land in a protected area to give the chief executive an environmental impact statement (EIS) for the use, or a stated use, of the land under the interest. No EISs were required or considered under this provision during 2020–21.

Under section 174A of the NC Act the chief executive may, by gazette notice, approve or make codes of practice for protected areas or forest reserves. No codes of practice under the NC Act for protected areas and forest reserves were current during 2020–21.

Trustees

Section 31 of the NC Act provides that a conservation park or resources reserve may be placed under the management of trustees. Trustees are listed in Schedule 1 and Schedule 2 of the Nature Conservation (Protected Areas Management) Regulation 2017. There were no new trustees appointed during 2020–21.

Commercial activity agreements

The Nature Conservation (Protected Areas Management) Regulation 2017 provides for authorised activities to be allowed on protected areas. Part 8 of the Regulation outlines the process for consideration of commercial activity agreements on protected areas. The 91 commercial activity agreements in force during 2020–21 are listed in Table E.

Conservation agreements for nature refuges

Section 45 of the NC Act, under certain circumstances, requires the Minister, for the State, to enter into conservation agreements with landholders to assist in the conservation of land and wildlife. Section 48 of the NC Act allows the Minister, for the State, and the landholders bound by a conservation agreement to vary or replace an existing conservation agreement. The 19 conservation agreements (for nature refuges) executed during 2020–21 are listed in Table F.

Forest reserves

The NC Act provides for the continued management of lands dedicated as forest reserves prior to their intended transfer to protected area. There were no changes to the status of forest reserves during 2020–21, as indicated in Table G.

Management statements and management plans

Sections 111–119B of the NC Act outline the process for preparing management statements and management plans for protected areas. A management statement is generally required for all protected areas. However, a management plan may be prepared instead of a management statement, or to replace an existing management statement, if the Minister is satisfied it is appropriate in the circumstances.

As at 30 June 2021, there were 81 management plans covering 108 protected areas, as listed in Table H—including 4 national parks (scientific), 67 national parks, 33 conservation parks and 4 resources reserves. During 2020–21, two protected area management plans, for 5 protected areas (Main Beach Conservation Park, Myora Conservation Park, Naree Budjong Djara (North Stradbroke Island) Conservation Park, Naree Budjong Djara (North Stradbroke Island) National Park and Currawinya National Park), were approved by the Governor in Council.

As at 30 June 2021, there are 377 protected area management statements covering 456 protected areas, as listed in Table I—including 4 national parks (scientific), 206 national parks, 17 national parks (CYPAL), 191 conservation parks and 38 resources reserves. During 2020–21, 1 protected area management statement, for Raine Island National Park (Scientific) was approved.

As at 30 June 2021, 98.94% of national parks—including national parks (scientific), 95.73% of conservation parks and 89.36% of resources reserves had a management instrument (management statement or management plan) in place (excluding joint management areas). This enabled improved management, including ecosystem health, fire, pest and visitor management, and provided direction on emerging and contemporary matters.

Wildlife and habitat conservation

Classes of wildlife

Part 5 of the NC Act, the Nature Conservation (Animals) Regulation 2020 and the Nature Conservation (Plants) Regulation 2020 detail the requirements to protect native wildlife. Protected wildlife may be prescribed as 'extinct', 'extinct in the wild', 'critically endangered', 'endangered', 'vulnerable', 'near threatened' or 'least concern'. In addition, wildlife may be prescribed as 'international' or 'prohibited'. There were no changes to the classes of wildlife in 2020–21. A summary of numbers of prescribed wildlife, as at 30 June 2021, is provided in Table J.

Wildlife licences, permits and other authorities

Under the NC Act, licences, permits or other authorities are required for the 'take', 'keep' and 'use' of protected wildlife, to ensure that use is ecologically sustainable and wild populations are protected. Summaries of information relating to wildlife licences and wildlife permits are provided in Table K and Table L.

Under section 174A of the NC Act, the chief executive may, by gazette notice, approve or make codes of practice for protected wildlife. A summary of the 14 wildlife codes of practice and guidelines in effect under the NC Act during 2020–21 is provided in Table M.

Under section 100B of the NC Act, the Minister may enter into a captive breeding agreement for protected wildlife. A summary of the 3 captive breeding agreements in effect during 2020–21 is provided in Table N.

Critical habitats and areas of major interest

Under section 175J of the NC Act, the Governor in Council may make regulations with respect to the use or development of land, and activities, in an area identified as, or including, a critical habitat or an area of major interest. No critical habitats or areas of major interest were determined during 2020–21.

Declarations

Chapter 6, Part 2 of the Nature Conservation (Animals) Regulation 2020 provides for special management declarations for marine mammals. No special management declarations were made during 2020–21.

Interim conservation orders

Part 6 of the NC Act allows for interim conservation orders to be made for the conservation, protection or management of threatened or near threatened wildlife, a critical habitat, an area of major interest, or a protected area. No interim conservation orders were issued during 2020–21.

Administration

Conservation officers

Under section 127 of the NC Act, the responsible Minister may appoint an employee of the department, an officer of the public service, a police officer, or another appropriately qualified person to be a conservation officer. Conservation officers possess a range of investigation, compliance and enforcement powers supporting the implementation of the objectives of the NC Act. Departmental records indicate 90 conservation officers were newly appointed or reappointed under the NC Act during 2020–21. No Indigenous Land and Sea Rangers (non-public service employees) were newly authorised to exercise powers under section 151 of the NC Act (Conservation officer may require name and address).

Offences and prosecutions

Enforcement of the NC Act is a major activity for DES to ensure the protection and conservation of Queensland's natural environment.
